

Envisioning Kaohsiung 2050

In the 20th century, Kaohsiung is a model industrial city, and an embodiment of urban development depicted in the 1933 Athens Charter. The city planning during Japanese-ruling laid the foundation and structure of today's urban development of Kaohsiung.

The globalization in the 21st century has speeded up the paradigm shift in urban planning toward a knowledge-based, technology-driven one, challenging the old economic and spatial arrangements of Kaohsiung metropolis.

In the face of global challenges, Kaohsiung aligns its future urban development with the New Leipzig Charter and delivers transformative actions by 2050.

IBA Kaohsiung is not a traditional exhibition. It is a platform for initiating bottom-up actions, inspiring ideas, and demonstrating innovations from the citizens.

IBA Kaohsiung calls for YOUR ideas! We aim to build a future-oriented and model metropolregion in the Asia Pacific region and the world.

We invite you to join this journey to the future !

1 Zone I About IBA Kaohsiung

Seeing the Future: IBA as an innovative way to urban development.

Inspired by the IBA model of urban development originated from Germany (Internationale Bauausstellung), IBA Kaohsiung serves as a platform for citizens to engage, interpret, and explore the future of Kaohsiung. A series of activities including IBA Forums, IBA Workshops, and IBA Talks initiate rounds of public dialogues and invite generations and stakeholders to actively engage in urban development. IBA Kaohsiung aims to translate the commitment and policy of city leader into a transformation process that can be experienced, understood, imagined, and seen.

2 Zone II A Metropolregion in Transformation, Kaohsiung

In the repositioning of global geo-politics, Kaohsiung has proactively prepared itself to reconnect to the world as a new economic hub in the Asia Pacific region. New technology and knowledge-based economy will restructure Kaohsiung in terms of its industrial transition and spatial development as a global metropolregion of the future — defined by multiple centers with diverse and lively characteristics.

3 Zone III Citizens as City Makers

Here are 11 ideas proposed by communities and citizens in between 2021-2022. Topics include building inclusive communities in urban and rural areas, the conservation and innovation of traditional folk lifestyle, the envisioning of 100 green lifestyles, and accessible, multiple urban centers.

In IBA Kaohsiung, citizens are the stakeholders and co-planners for developing the vision of future living in Kaohsiung. And these bottom-up ideas are essential building blocks to formulate lighthouse projects of IBA Kaohsiung.

4 Zone IV Call for YOUR Ideas: the Future of Living in Kaohsiung

IBA surveys, calls for and collects ideas and proposals from various local networks, either through formal or informal, virtual or physical channels. These ideas are expected to be at different stages of materialization, some are visions being conceptualized, and some are ready for initiating proposals.

For a better future, for a better Kaohsiung, share your ideas:
